Anthony [sic] Gobiet, sr., aged 78 years, 7 months and 14 days, departed this life at his residence near Rice, Kan., Sept. 6th, of paralysis. He was born in Leuraing, Belgum [sic], and came to American in 1871, since which time he has been a resident of Cloud county. Grandpa Gobiet was converted in his native country and became a patient and enduring instructor of those inquiring the way of life. He would take his bible and go from house to house and read and pray with the people. The persecutions at that time were severe against protestants. Often he was stoned by the opposers of Christ. His life was a consistent and constant devotion to God, being a very strong, health man up to a few days of his departure. Truly it may be said of Grandpa Gobiet that he kept the faith, finished his course and has gone to his eternal rest and received his crown of life. He was a member of the Wesleyan Methodist church. His wife, seven children and seventeen grandchildren remain to follow on to eternal life. The funeral took place at the school house, the pastor preaching the funeral assisted by Bro. Colwell, of the M. E. church, after which the remains of this sainted father in Israel were followed to the cemetery by a large concourse of friends, and laid away to await the coming of the Lord.

And said goodbye at the riverside;
They dipped their feet in the shining stream,
And faded away like a misty dream.*

We shall meet them again on that shore;
With fairer face and angel grace,
Each loved one will welcome us there.*

Last Monday, at about noon, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Dowell drove into Hopkins with a load of chickens and produce and stopped their team at the platform on the west side of the store of C. K. Allen & Co. Mrs. Dowell got out of the wagon and stood on the platform while the chickens were being unloaded and weighed. By some one standing near she was heard to say, 'I'll step over here.' She moved slightly to one side, as if getting out of the way, and bent over as if in the act of sitting down when instead of sitting she fell upon the platform. Dr. Hughes was quickly called and after loosening her clothes and chafing her limbs, carried her into the store and laid her upon the counter in a lifeless condition. She was afterward taken to Mrs. Brainard's boarding house, and later in the day carried back to their farm on Honey creek, seven miles east of town, in the hearse, a corpse. Samuel Goodail [sic] died of lockjaw at 1:30 o'clock Saturday morning at the home of his parents, in Rhudy's addition, South St. Joseph. The young man's death was the result of an injury sustained on the Fourth of July. The accidental discharge of a twenty-two blank pistol cartridge the morning of the Fourth resulted in a severe injury to the forefinger of the young man's right hand. Some of the wadding of the cartridge was blown into the finger. Dr. D. A. Pope was called and he dressed the wound. It had apparently healed and on Thursday the young man, who was employed in the box factory at Swift & Company's plant, started to work. Mr. Goodhart lived near here on that one farm 43 years, he and his wife having come to Missouri in the year 1874. They moved here from Richland county Ohio where Mr. and Mrs. Goodhart were married October 1, 1896 [sic]. During the winter of 1871 brother Goodheart was converted and united with the Protestant Methodist church, of which he has always remained a member.

For the past four year [sic] Mr. Goodhart has been in very poor health but he never gave up-- even the night before his death he went to church and spoke of how he enjoyed the service and what a good preacher Rev. Moody is.

Death came very quietly, no struggle, he just laid his head back against the chair in which he was sitting, closed his eyes, breathed his last and was asleep in Jesus.

Goodheart was 73 years old having been born September 29, 1843 in Cumberland county Pa. The 2 children, the wife and grand children survive.

The funeral was held in the M. E. church Sunday afternoon conducted by Rev. Sturges and burial in the Maitland cemetery.

Almost continuously since the establishment of this paper more than 25 years ago, says the Mound City News-Jeffersonian, John Goodhart has written the interesting Triumph Items. Many times he has asked to be relieved as health failed, but upon the insistance [sic] of editor and friends he reluctantly consented to do his best though often the evidence of his illness was see in the handwriting that came to our desk. But never was there a note of discouragement in the Triumph Items. And so he was with his neighbors; always cheerful, holding a broad and intelligent view upon general and local topics he made his home a Mecca for the entire community. His items were always read with delight. They were characterized by an originality and innocent wit. Year after year he was the chief factor in the public life of his neighborhood, promoting literary societies and similar activities at the school house, and many a young person caught the vision of a larger life through the kindly encouragement of John Goodhart. He came to Holt county in 1871 and for 46 years lived on the same farm, six miles south of Maitland. Throughout those years he was faithful to his church, his family and his neighbors. He was content with moderate means, living on his original farm of 80 acres. He died July 6, 1917, and with the passing of this good man all northwest Missouri is given a clearer view of the true greatness of such men as John Goodhart of Holt county, Sport's Cousin of Atchison county or Old Chip of Ray and such women as Mrs. Curry of Harrison county, who spend their days brightening with little touches of love and wit and optimism the work-a-day lives of those about them.

John R. Goodloe.

Died at his home north of Stella, Nebraska, on Sunday, October 28, at 9 o'clock a.m., aged 57 years.

Mr. Goodloe's death was very sudden. He seemed to be in his usual health up to a short time before he died. He had done his chores as usual on Sunday morning and was talking with his family when he complained of a severe pain in his chest. He started to go out of doors, but before he got out he fell and never spoke again.

Mr. Goodloe was classed among the early settlers of Richardson county. He came here from Andrew county, Missouri, where he was raised, immediately after the war and settled in old St. Stephens precinct, now Barada. After living there a few years he moved on a farm near Salem. He then returned to the eastern part of the county again, but soon returned to a farm near Verdon, where he lived for a number of years, when he bought his present home north of Stella. Mr. Goodlow was a hard working man, and having lived in so many different communities was well known through the eastern and central portions of the county. He was born in Clay county, Missouri, in 1837, and married in Andrew county, Missouri, before moving to Nebraska.

A wife and seven children are left to mourn the loss of a kind and indulgent husband and father, and the community and accommodating neighbor. Two of his daughters are married, Mrs. W. C. Sloan, of Stella, and Mrs. Chas. Wilkinson, of Verdon. The other children-- three boys and two girls-- are all at home.

Mr. Goodloe joined the Christian church at the Cnaffin [sic] school house, southeast of Dawson some fifteen years ago, and he has been a faithful and consistent member every [sic] since. The funeral services were held from the Christian church at Stella on Tuesday, October 30.

Subject: Thomas Jefferson Goodnight

Source: The Hartford [KS] Times, 30 Mar 1923, Friday, p. 1

Thomas J. Goodnight, one of Hartford's old and respected citizens, has passed from earth to his final reward. He had been a sufferer, from cancer of the face, for a number of years and doctored almost continually in order to keep the malady under control. At times it was thought the cancer would be entirely cured and when least expecting, it would become inflamed and painful. He had taken numerous treatments and been under various specialists. His last days were spent at Savannah, Missouri, where he was in a sanitorium being doctored and not until just a few days before the end came did the attending physicians and nurses realize the seriousness of his condition. The children were summoned and he passed away Friday morning, March, 24, 1923. He was aged 82 years, 1 month and 15 days.

His remains were taken to the home of his daughter, Mrs. E. Rayl, in Emporia, and funeral services were held in this place Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the M. E. church. Rev. Nathan S. Franklin, pastor of the Christian church, had charge of the services and delivered a most suitable sermon. The singers were Mesdames G. W. Britton, J. M. Wood, A. S. Bernheisel, Miss Olivia Coburn and Messrs. C. B. Shull, Frank Fullen and Frank Hovious, with Mrs. J. W. Kerby as accompanist.

Handsome floral tributes covered the casket and decorated the rostrum. These had been presented by relatives, friends and clubs and were left with him in his last resting place in the Hartford cemetery. The pall-bearers were Messrs. R. L. Mahaffey, J. W. O'Connor, A. S. Bernheisel, P. H. Hoch, R. D. Carpenter and J. L. Horner.

Thomas Jefferson Goodnight was born in Boone County, Indiana, Feb. 9, 1841. In October 1868, he was married to Miss Mary King at Zionsville, Indiana. To this union were born eight children, seven of whom are living, one having died in infancy. Mrs. Goodnight passed away April 28, 1916, after a prolonged illness. The children left to mourn the father's death are Mrs. F. B. Shaffer, Bartlesville, Okla.; Mrs. L. W. Knight and William Goodnight, Burlington, Kans.; Mrs. J. E. Johnston, San Jose, Calif.; Mrs. W. A. Son, Carthage, Mo.; L. B. Goodnight, east of town, and Mrs. E. Rayl, Emporia, Kans. All of the children except Mrs. Johnston were in attendance at the funeral.

In the summer of 1869 Mr. and Mrs. Goodnight came to Kansas, settling on a farm near Plymouth, but several years later they moved to a farm east of Hartford where they lived until 1911 when they came to town, which has since been his home. The past winter he spent with his daughter and family in Bartlesville, Okla. His only sister passed away March 8th at the advanced age of 94 years.

Mr. Goodnight was an ardent Democrat and in earlier years was a strong party worker. He was a kind, accomodating [sic] neighbor and friend, a fond and loving parent, devoted to those most near and dear to him, self-sacrificing and thoughtful. He was a carpenter of skill and followed this vocation even when he lived on the farm. A man of good judgment, he discharged whatever duties devolved upon him with a marked degree of success.

Having reached a ripe old age, living out the allotted time and more-- over four score years-- we realize he had a long life's journey. Long will he be remembered by his children and all who knew him. They will hear his voice no more and he will be missed in many places. His chair is vacant and never can be filled, but he has joined the dear wife and mother who had gone before. A loving heart has been stilled, an excellent citizen has ceased his labors, a fond parent has been laid to rest. Peace to his ashes.

Out of town people at the funeral beside the children were Mesdames C. E. Cole, Emmons Hoover, Carl Balweg and Miss Clyde Hoover, of Emporia.

On last Friday Alfred Gierhart, Simon Johnson and Joe Goodrich went to McCook. Coming home at about 9:30 p.m., they ran off a grade two miles south of Cedar Bluffs and the auto was turned completely over, killing Goodrich instantly, and severely shaking up the other two but not seriously injuring them. It is claimed they were running without lights, but this is also denied. It is claimed that the boys had all been drinking. No difference who is to blame the killed of a good business man of the city, the loss to his family is an irreparable loss that cannot be measured in dollars and cents.

The funeral was held on Sunday at the home. The Masonic fraternity, assisted by the Odd Fellows lodge of the city had charge of the entire arrangements. The sermon was by Reverend Dick, assisted by Rev. Clark. Burial in the Oberlin cemetery.

And thus passed to the great beyond one in the prime of life. A good business man, an indulgent father, a kind husband' gone, a useless sacrifice to the demon rum. In a hundred years all the benefits that may accrue to the bringing in of intoxicants from McCook will never repay the loss of this one man to the community and his family.

On Friday evening, December 15, at the Sisters hospital in the city of St. Joseph, after a painful illness of three weeks, Miss Sarah Gore passed quietly and peacefully to her heavenly home.

Her death was not wholly unexpected, yet it came as a great shock to her friends and loved ones. She had been a great sufferer for several years and had often come [sic] near death's door. But each time tallied and came back to her friends and her place of service.

Sarah Gore was the daughter of G. L. and Emeline Gore, and was born in Andrew county, Missouri, near the city of St. Joseph, July 16th, 1867. At the time of her death she was 55 years, 4 months and 29 days old.

Her parents were Virginians by birth, but came here in an early day and assisted in the pioneer work of this state. The present generation owe [sic] much to these sturdy pioneers, who made it possible for us to enjoy the fruit of their labors.

She received her education in the public schools of this county, and while she did not have the advantages afforded the young people of our day, she developed and used the talents God gave her to a remarkable degree.

In the year 1892 she made a public profession of her faith in Christ, and united with the Pleasant View Baptist church, near St. Joseph. From that time till the day of her death she was a true and devoted Christian.

She came to Savannah several years ago and transferred her membership to the First Baptist church of this city. She has been identified with it almost from the beginning and has had much to do with its prosperity.

While she never married yet she established a home, and reared to manhood and womanhood four of her nephews and nieces. R. G. Gore and Coyne Gore of this city, Mrs. F. L. Kirtley of St. Joseph and Mrs. Frank Denney of near Savannah.

Three brothers and two sisters survive her and were present at the funeral service: T. S. J. Gore of St. Joseph, G. A. Gore of Kansas City, Dr. L. M. Gore of Oil City, Texas, Mrs. J. M. Miller and Mrs. L. W. Craig of Savannah.

Miss Sarah Gore was a remarkable woman in many ways. She performed the part of a mother to those left motherless; she was kind and helpful to her brothers and sisters; she was devoted to her Lord and his church; she was tender and sympathetic to the sick; she was a good friend to the orphans, and in every way a well balanced and dependable Christian woman.

Her going is a distinct loss to the church and the whole community. She will be greatly missed by us all. We humbly pray that our gracious Lord will raise up some one who will take her place and carry on the work.

She leaves to mourn her departure three brothers, two sisters, nine nephews, six nieces, besides the whole church and many other friends.

We commend the sorrowing family and friends to a loving Father, who doeth all things well; and pray that his grace may sustain them in this hour of bereavement.

Mrs. Susie Gore Gedultig, of St. Joseph, Jan. 18, 1904, laid aside the mantle of sorrow and suffering to enter the haven of eternal rest. Mrs. Gedultig was the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Gore. She was born Aug. 16, 1877, and was united in marriage to William Gedultig Sept. 6, 1897. To this union there were born three children.

She was a consistent member of the Pleasant View Baptist church. Mrs. Gedultig had been a great sufferer for more than two months. We have never seen a greater manifestation of patience in suffering. In her darkest hour her faith in God was the pillow upon which she leaned her dying head. It is not for us to know why she, so young, should be called to endure such intense pain and suffering before entering heaven. She is now free from all that can molest. What if she did suffer here? 'Will not the Judge of all the earth do right.' Will he not reward her for all that she patiently endured for His name sake? Her friends murmured and complained that one so dear and good should be compelled to pass through such fiery trials and at last give up husband, children and friends. She did not murmur, she was willing to obey the voice of her Master which called her home.

Less than three months ago her mother passed from this world to heaven and was there with her father to welcome her at the beautiful gate. The going of mother and sister so closely together falls heavily upon the faithful sisters, who have watched by her bed-side day and night. They were loathe to give her up even into the arms of Jesus. They cannot understand now, but the Lord whom they serve will take care of her and will make it plain to them someday. May the comforting grace of Him who doeth all things well, be fully given to the bereaved husband, the three motherless children and the grief stricken sisters and brothers.

Her funeral was held at Union Baptist church, Jan. 19, at 11 a.m. The services were conducted by her pastor, J. N. Hartley. After the services her body was brought to Savannah and left to rest by the side of her parents in the Savannah cemetery.

The Democrat of last week contained a brief notice of the killing of George Gorton [sic], at Winslow, Arizona on Sunday, September 25, 1887, who formerly lived in this county. Mr. Gorton, at the time of his death, was manager of the Waters' Cattle Company ranch, and was held in high esteem by his employers and all who knew him. The following are the particulars of the killing: Gorton had in his employ a man named Louis Brown, who was considered a dangerous man, although Gorton appeared to have confidence in him. Brown was in Winslow on Sunday and had been drinking. He wanted to kill a man that evening but Gorton had prevented him. About 11 o'clock p.m., Gorton succeeded in getting Brown on his horse to go to the ranch, but Brown turned and attempted to ride into the saloon, when Gorton expostulated and caught the horse by the bridle, whereupon Brown shot him, the ball passing through his liver and bowels. Gorton remarked, 'Brown you have killed me' when Brown answered, 'no I hav'nt.' [sic] Gorton then fell, but rallying, shot two or three times at Brown's retreating figure. Gorton, no doubt, being conscious [sic] that he was mortally wounded put his revolver to his own brain and fired, and thus hastened the end of his sufferings. It is reported that on Monday following Brown's hat was found in a pool of blood; also that his pistol, saddle as well as horse was found, but no trace of Brown. Gorton leaves a wife and three children.

N. Goslee, who resided near Clearmont, was kicked and pawed to death by a stallion in his stable Tuesday of this week. He had gone into the box stall where the horse was, with a bridle in hand, presumably to lead him out to water. Mr. Harman, Goslee's son-in-law, was engaged in hauling manure from another part of the barn, and when he came back to get a load, his attention was attracted by a noise like snoring. He supposed at first that Mr. Goslee had laid down on the hay and was taking a sleep, but after looking and not seeing him on the hay, he concluded to make examination and going to the box stall [sic] found the horse loose and he was pawing and striking the prostrate form of Goslee. Harman got a pitchfork and fought the vicious animal back into the corner, and succeeded in getting Goslee part of the way out. The animal, which seemed furiously enraged, would rush upon him, and finally he broke his fork. He then went to the house and Miss Goslee came to the barn, and then managed to get Mr. Goslee out of the stall. He was unconscious, but lived about an hour and a-half.

Dr. Martin, coroner, held an inquest yesterday, the verdict of the jury being that the deceased came to his death by a vicious horse.

Mr. Goslee was about 60 years of age and was an old settler. Several years ago he was county surveyor. He was a great mathematician and took much delight in solving difficult problems.

Mrs. Hunter was born in Todd Co., Kentucky [sic], Nov. 23d, 1835 and was married Feb. 13th, 1851. The following spring she and her husband removed to Hickory Co., Missouri where they resided until the spring of 1855 when the family came to Andrew county Mo., their present residence. Mrs. Hunter made a profession of religion in the fall of 1853 and afterwards united with the Protestant Methodist church. She lived a consistant [sic] life and tried to teach her children the principles of the gospel. She was a woman of faith and amid the trials and vexations of this earthly life she always spoke with the upmost confidence in her Heavenly Father. Her health for the past two years was not vigorous, still the end came suddenly; she was sick only a few days. God says to all, 'Be ye also ready for ye know neither the day nor the hour wherein the son of man cometh.' She was a kind and symphatising [sic] wife and mother. Her husband and nine children will greatly miss her, but what is their loss is her gain. As the sun in his setting gives token of rising again, so in her death there is hope of rising in brighter array. 'Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord.'

Returning from an afternoon at a picnic at Camp Happy, Miss Kathryn [sic] Gotschall [sic], 21 years old, who made her home at the Y. W. C. A., was fatally injured when a St. Joseph-Savannah interurban car struck her at Stop 17 in Andrew county at 8:15 o'clock Saturday evening. The bright light of the car as it approached is believed to have cause the girl to become panic-stricken and forget she was in the track. The motorman of the car was unable to slow up in time to avoid hitting the girl. Death occurred a few minute after the accident.

Miss Gotschall had been attending the picnic of the Epworth League of Francis Street Methodist church. Just before time for the interurban car to arrive at Stop 17, Miss Gotschall decided she would return to St. Joseph, and hurried to the station. Just as she approached the track, the interurban rounded a turn. Miss Gotschall, believing she could stop the car by standing in the track, ran out. Apparently the car was going faster than she thought, and before she could jump out of the way she was hurled into the air.

The body was thrown thirty or forty feet from where it was hit. Concussion of the brain was given as the cause of her death.

The mother of the girl, Mrs. H. F. Gotschall, who lives at Union Star, was notified of her daughter's death, and came to St. Joseph at once. There also is one brother surviving. Miss Gotschall was employed in the Midland Printing company in St. Joseph for about a year, going there after completing a St. Joseph business course.

Miss Kathryn [sic] Gotschall [sic], of St. Joseph, was fatally injured when struck by an Interurban car near stop 17, last Saturday evening. She had attended a picnic of the Francis Street Epworth League of the Francis Street Methodist church at 'Camp Happy' near that place and decided to return home on the car which leaves Savannah at 8 p.m. She attempted to stop the car by getting on the track and it is thought that she became bewildered by the bright headlight. The motorman was unable to stop the car after seeing her and thus avoid striking her.

A friend who was with her ran for assistance to the home of Frank Thornton nearby. Miss Gotschall was unconscious when picked up, and was still living, but death ensued before an ambulance could be called. Dr. W. H. Bailey coroner, from this city, pronounced the cause as being concussion of the brain and a verdict in accordance with this was given at an inquest held later.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Gotschall, parents of the deceased, who lived at Union Star were notified and at once went to St. Joseph where the body had been taken. Brief funeral services were held there Sunday and the body was taken to Union star, near which place it was interred on Monday.
